TRANSFORMING PEOPLE & PLACES

Greencorps Chicago is the City of Chicago's green industry job training program for individuals with barriers to employment. It is a program of the Chicago Department of Transportation in partnership with WRD Environmental. The mission of the program is to EMPOWER RESIDENTS FROM CHICAGOLAND'S UNDERSERVED NEIGHBORHOODS TO CREATE CHANGE IN THEIR LIVES AND COMMUNITIES through training, service, and career opportunities in environmental fields. In partnership with several stakeholders, we aim to build healthier, safer, and more engaged communities while preparing individuals for employment through practical field experience and technical training in environmentally related jobs.

Greencorps participants are provided diverse learning opportunities and hands-on training experiences in careers, such as landscaping, tree care, ecological restoration, and green infrastructure. Technical training includes horticulture, tree planting, carpentry, plant identification, hand and gas-powered tools, pesticide use, chainsaw operation, and a variety of other project-specific topics. Trainees also have the opportunity to earn several professional certifications, including First Aid/CPR, HAZWOPER, OSHA 10-Hour Safety, Defensive Driving, Chicago Wilderness Prescription Burn Class, and the Illinois Pesticide license. Additionally, Greencorps offers professional development and soft skills training throughout the year to increase the work readiness of its participants.

On top of the classroom training, our crew-based project work model provides an opportunity for participants to work on their professional interpersonal skills and hone the new technical skills they have acquired in training, while implementing meaningful projects that support regional sustainability and resiliency initiatives. Trainees work on a range of projects including invasive species removal, vacant lot improvement, landscape maintenance, and planting projects for a variety of partners, including the Chicago Park District, the Forest Preserves of Cook County, the Chicago Department of Planning and Development, the Illinois Department of Natural Resources, the Chicago Region Tree Initiative, and other public and community partners. Working on real projects allows participants to learn industry expectations with time to learn and grow, not otherwise offered in an industry position.

Throughout the program, all participants are supported with wrap-around social services, comprehensive job readiness training, and a stable income; increasing their ability to secure full-time employment upon completion. Following graduation, Greencorps' provides placement assistance by identifying appropriate employment matches for graduates and follows up with post placement check-ins to address any workplace issues that may arise. These services contribute the ongoing success of our graduates and aids businesses in finding and retaining a reliable workforce.

CELEBRATING 30 YEARS OF IMPACT

Greencorps Chicago was first created in 1994 as a community greening program to work with local community members. It quickly became apparent that for the program to be effective, those community members, soon to be known as trainees, would need some horticulture training for the projects. This realization set Greencorps on a course to become the robust job training program that it is today. Since the beginning, Greencorps has been made possible by a network of relationships and partnerships with organizations that provide multiple layers of support to Greencorps Chicago; and just like many organizations, Greencorps has had to adapt to thrive and that adaptation has led to two predominant eras.

30 YEARS

700 + GRADUATES

From 1994-2011, we were heavily focused on horticulture and landscaping through community garden projects, Chicago Department of Environment projects, and establishing our core training components.

During this time we installed over 850 new gardens & supported another 1500 gardens with maintenance, we made sure that over 1900 homes in low income communities had insulation and storm windows that could protect them from the cold and rain, we created a satellite program, Greencorps Calumet, that ran for 2.5 years that helped pave the path for strengthening our ecological restoration training.

Greencorps began its second era in 2012. At that time, we began to shift our training focus and have since built critical relationships with our project partners that have kept us running strong. During this time, our crews received experience working on projects with the Forest Preserves of Cook County, the Chicago Park District, the IL Department of Natural Resources, the City Colleges of Chicago, and the Department of Planning & Development.

We have also partnered on several high school programs, most recently with DFSS and CPS to run the Greencorps Chicago Youth Program to provide Chicago high school students a summer employment opportunity focused on bicycling, gardening, and educational experiences in the environmental field.
